

TOKYO COLLEGE

共に考える。未来のかたち Shaping a Shared Future Together

Lecture

Speaker

A. G. Hopkins

Emeritus Smuts Professor of Commonwealth History,
University of Cambridge / Fellow, the British Academy

Antony “Tony” Gerald Hopkins has written extensively on African history, imperial history, and globalization. His publications include: An Economic History of West Africa (1973), Globalization in World History (2001), Global History: Interactions between the Universal and the Local (2006), and American Empire: A Global History (2018).

Globalisation, Empires, and the Making of the Modern World

This talk describes three phases of globalisation that have occupied the last five centuries and their role in making the world we know today. The first two phases were associated with the rise of Western empires, which integrated large parts of the world through a process of compulsory globalisation. The third phase, which began after 1945, brought empires to an end and produced the current world order — and disorder.

2022.5.13 [Fri.]

3:00 pm-4:30 pm (2:40 pm Doors Open)

Commentator

Michael FACIUS

Associate Professor, Tokyo College

Commentator

TSAI Hung Yin

Postdoctoral Fellow,
Tokyo College

In-Person Event

Venue

Tetsumon Memorial Hall,
Faculty of Medicine Experimental Research Bldg.

Language

English with Japanese simultaneous translation

Contact

tokyo.college.event@tc.u-tokyo.ac.jp

100 seats
(first come, first served)

Pre-registration required

Register now

